DECIDING JUDGE/S

This order has been issued by the Presiding Judge Dr D. Voß as Judge-rapporteur.

LANGUAGE OF THE PROCEEDINGS

English

SUBJECT-MATTER OF THE PROCEEDINGS

Infringement action and Counterclaim for revocation – Application pursuant to Rule 9.3 RoP

SUMMARY OF FACTS

- 1 The Claimant is suing the Defendants for patent infringement. Together with their Statement of Defence, the Defendants have filed a Counterclaim for revocation. The Claimant's deadline for the Reply to the Statement of Defence and for the Defence to the Counterclaim for revocation expires on 22 June 2026. The oral hearing is scheduled for 11 December 2026. Pursuant to the Court's order of 19 May 2026, the present case will be heard jointly with case UPC_CFI_617/2024 which concerns the same parties and the same patent.

REQUESTS

- 2 The Claimant requests, to extend the R. 29(a) RoP deadline currently expiring on 22 June 2026 by two weeks, i.e. until 6 July 2026.

- 3 Following an out-of-court request from the Claimant, the Defendants agreed to the deadline extension under the condition of reciprocity.

SUBMISSIONS OF THE PARTIES

- 4 The Claimant states that, due to the agglomeration of submission deadlines for Claimant in this present and in several of the parallel infringement and invalidity proceedings between the same parties before the German national courts over the month of June, the timely and properly addressed and coordinated finalisation of Claimant's technical and FRAND reply in this matter would likely not be feasible.

GROUND FOR THE ORDER

- 5 The requested deadline extension cannot be granted.
- 6 An extension of the deadline as requested would jeopardise the proper preparation of the oral hearing on 11 December 2026. As an Application to amend the patent is to be expected, as in case UPC_CFI_617/2024, there will be three further rounds of written submissions following Claimant's Reply to the Statement of Defence and Defence to the Counterclaim. The time limits for these submissions amount to a total of four months. Taking into account time limits falling on weekends, the final pleading (Rejoinder to the Application to amend the patent) is therefore expected to be filed on 26 October 2026. This is already close to the hearing date and makes it difficult to prepare adequately for the hearing. A deadline extension of two weeks would bring the date of receipt of the final submission even closer to the hearing date, to 9 November 2026. Given the complexity of the case and other proceedings requiring preparation, adequate preparation for the hearing date can then no longer be guaranteed.
- 7 However, due to the weekends, which cause a deadline extension to the following Monday, the deadline may be extended until 24 June 2026 which at least leads to an extension of Defendants' final time limit for two days to 26 October 2026.

ORDER

Claimant's R. 29(a) RoP deadline is extended until 24 June 2026.

The request for a further deadline extension is rejected.
